BIOTA WESTERN VISAYAS

The Biology Teachers Association of the Philippines, Inc. Western Visayas Chapter is a professional organization of Biology teachers in Western Visayas and has been active in promoting Biology in the region. This year, the organization will sponsor the 11th Annual Regional Convention and Scientific Sessions with the theme “Biology and the Decade of Education for Sustainable Development” (the theme of 2010 BIOTA National Convention). This will be held at the University of St. Las Salle, Bacolod City.

THE HOST SCHOOL

The University of St. La Salle is a member of the Lasallian schools in the Philippines. It was established in 1952 by three founding American brothers. The school obtained its University status in 1988.

It is a Catholic institution of learning offering to both men and women. Inspired by the charisma of the Founder, St. John Baptiste de la Salle, and animated by Christian values, the University seeks to help our people, especially the poor, live a life of dignity to the fullest of their capabilities. As a catalyst for change, it commits itself to instill concern for the environment, community and country.
